DID YOU KNOW?

The red five-pointed star in the white circle is a common symbol on the flags of some countries. Here it sits toward the left, near the flagpole.

The big red band stands for the country, the blue stripes for a wish to work with other nations, and the white stripes for purity.

North Korea is a country in East Asia. Its highest mountain, Mount Paektu, is a huge volcano with a deep blue crater lake at the top.

North Korea shares the Korean peninsula with South Korea. The two were once a single country and share the same language and long history.
