DID YOU KNOW?

In the middle is a Maasai shield with two crossed spears behind it. The Maasai are one of Kenya's best-known peoples, famous as brave warriors and cattle herders.

The colours each have a meaning: black for the people of Kenya, red for the blood shed for freedom, and green for the land. The white lines stand for peace.

Kenya is famous for its safari animals — lions, elephants, giraffes and zebras roam its national parks, and huge herds cross the Maasai Mara each year.

Kenya is home to some of the world's greatest long-distance runners, who have won many Olympic gold medals and marathons.
