DID YOU KNOW?

The big star under the Union Jack is the Commonwealth Star. It has seven points — one for each of the six states, and one for the territories.

The five stars on the right are the Southern Cross, a constellation you can only see from the southern half of the world.

Look closely — four of the Southern Cross stars have seven points, but the small one has only five.

Australia is the only country that is also a continent, and it's home to animals found nowhere else, like kangaroos, koalas and platypuses.
